Timeline of MNNIT In Past Years -

Motilal Nehru National Institute of Technology (MNNIT) Allahabad, originally known as Motilal Nehru Regional Engineering College (MNREC), has a rich history dating back to its establishment in 1961. Founded by India's first Prime Minister, Pt. Jawaharlal Nehru, the institute was strategically located on the banks of the river Ganga. This institution began its journey by offering bachelor's degree courses in Civil, Mechanical, and Electrical Engineering, laying a strong foundation for technical education in India.

The progress of MNREC was marked by significant milestones, beginning in 1965 with the inauguration of the main building by India's second Prime Minister, Shri Lal Bahadur Shastri. This event underscored the government's commitment to advancing technical education in the country. A year later, in 1966, the institute introduced its first master's degree course, M.Tech., in the Mechanical Engineering Department, marking the beginning of its postgraduate education programs.

The 1970s saw a rapid expansion in MNREC's academic offerings. In 1970, M.Tech. degrees were introduced across all engineering departments, followed by the launch of Ph.D. programs in all departments in 1971. This decade also saw the introduction of M.Tech. and Ph.D. programs under the Quality Improvement Program (QIP) schemes in 1973, enhancing the institute's research capabilities and academic excellence.

In 1976, MNREC achieved a significant milestone by becoming the first institute in India to offer an undergraduate course in Computer Science and Engineering. This pioneering move positioned the institute at the forefront of the emerging field of computer science education in the country. Further expansion occurred in 1982 with the addition of undergraduate programs in Electronics and Communication Engineering and Production and Industrial Engineering, catering to the growing demand for diverse engineering specializations.

The mid-1990s marked MNREC's foray into management education with the establishment of the School of Management Studies in 1996. This expansion reflected the institute's recognition of the importance of integrating management skills with technical expertise.

The year 2000 witnessed the introduction of a new B.Tech. course in Information Technology, responding to the burgeoning IT industry's needs.

A pivotal moment in the institute's history came in 2002 when it was awarded Deemed University status by the Ministry of Human Resource Development. This change led to the renaming of the institute to Motilal Nehru National Institute of Technology (MNNIT), reflecting its elevated status and national significance. The early 2000s continued to be a period of growth and innovation. In 2006, MNNIT introduced a B.Tech. program in Biotechnology within the Applied Mechanics Department and an M.Tech. program in Geographical Information Systems (GIS) in the Civil Engineering Department.

The year 2007 was particularly notable for the institute as it added several new M.Tech. courses, including Product Design and Engineering, Fluid Mechanics in the Applied Mechanics Department, and Information Security (IS) in the Computer Science and Engineering Department. This year also saw the institute being awarded the status of an Institute of National Importance (IN), underscoring its critical role in India's higher education landscape.

In 2009, MNNIT inaugurated a new academics building, enhancing its infrastructure and providing state-of-the-art facilities for students and faculty. This development was part of the institute's ongoing efforts to improve its academic environment and support advanced research and learning.

The institute continued to expand its collaborative efforts in 2015 by signing a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) with the All India Institute of Medical Sciences (AIIMS) Delhi. This partnership aimed to promote interdisciplinary research, combining MNNIT's engineering expertise with AIIMS's medical knowledge. The following year, in 2016, MNNIT signed MoUs for industry-academia collaboration with major corporations like PepsiCo and Honda Motorcycles and Scooters India Pvt. Ltd. (HMSI), fostering practical exposure and research opportunities for students.

The year 2017 was marked by a significant event as the President of India, Shri Ram Nath Kovind, along with the Governor of Uttar Pradesh, Shri Ram Naik, and the Chief Minister of Uttar Pradesh, Shri Yogi Adityanath, graced the institute's fourteenth convocation. During this period, MNNIT also signed an MoU with Amdocs, furthering its industry-academia collaboration efforts.

In response to the COVID-19 pandemic in 2020, MNNIT showcased its innovative capabilities by developing Viralyser, a portable low-cost UV sanitization device, and AMRIT, a mobile-based application designed to track patients. These initiatives highlighted the institute's commitment to addressing real-world challenges through technological solutions.

The following year, in 2021, saw the construction of an underpass and the renovation of hostels, overseen by Shri Ramesh Pokhriyal, enhancing the campus infrastructure and improving student amenities. In 2022, MNNIT adopted the National Education Policy (NEP-2022), aligning its academic programs and policies with the latest national educational standards, ensuring that the institute continues to provide high-quality education that meets contemporary needs.

Throughout its history, MNNIT Allahabad has consistently evolved and expanded, establishing itself as a premier institution of technical and management education in India. From its inception in 1961 to its current status as an Institute of National Importance, MNNIT has been at the forefront of educational innovation, research, and industry collaboration, playing a pivotal role in shaping the future of engineering and management education in the country.

–FROM CHIEF EDITORS DESK

It gives me great pleasure to unveil this year's Srijan. The following pages are testimony to the creative abilities of the budding technocrats and future managers that pass through the hallowed portals of this prestigious institute each year. There have been many changes in MNNIT since the pandemic and Srijan is no exception to that. When the editorial team got together earlier this year, they were all bubbling with enthusiasm and ideas for this edition of the magazine. With this year's edition, we've tried to make the magazine feel more exclusive to the college by adding in new sections like "Club Chronicles", "A Sentimental Stroll" which we hope would induce a feeling of nostalgia and fuel the feelings of belonging to the college.This year's Srijan brings in a refreshed design with a more vibrant colour palette. As we have meticulously verified your entries and could not add all the entries to the magazine,due to certain constraints, do not be disheartened if your literary pieces could not be featured this year and let the literary flame burn steady within you, to fuel your preferred outlets of creativity. Lastly, I would like to acknowledge the untiring efforts of the editorial board. I also wish to thank our director Prof. Rama Shanker Verma for being the guiding light of this entire endeavour. I hope Srijan achieves greater heights in the days to come.

 -Dr. Jyotsna Sinha , Chief Editor

CHIEF STUDENT EDITOR - To quote Sir Isaac Newton,"an object will not change its motion unless a force acts on it". Metaphorically, in this edition of SRIJAN, we have tried to constrain that force into reviving a monumental legacy of our coliege after a brief halt due to COVID-19. Of the many things I learnt being the Chief Student Editor for this issue, the one learning that was critical was about how easy it is to remain sceptical of any initiative or product from afar. It is only when you take matters into your own hands and delve deeper for an initiative, that you find out the diligent and zealous efforts of the people behind that initiative or product. Initially, there were qualms regarding the enthusiasm of the technically inclined crowd for a literary and artistic project like this and we questioned whether we would get sufficient articles and ideas to include in the magazine as we were starting from scratch after a considerable gap, which had slightly affected the adoration for the magazine among students. But I am proud to say that the students of MNNIT and the Editorial Team proved their prowess and came up with brilliant articles, short stories, poems, artworks and photographs on a wide array of topics. We have divided the magazine into three sections. They are English ;Hindi' and Fine Arts. The former two sections contain creative and well crafted literary pieces by the laureates of MNNIT On various topics. Fine Arts section is a concoction of beautifully captured photographs and elegantly crafted artworks by the artists of MNNIT. We believe in breaking the monotony of text with this issue of SRIJAN and have taken the liberty to club some entries of the Fine Arts section with the English and Hindi sections to make the magazine easier on the eyes. We have also included "Professor's Panorama, a section dedicated solely to the Literary and Artistic pieces by the faculty of MNNIT, to give the readers a chance to know their professors beyond the walls of the class room. On behalf of the entire team, I would like to express my gratitude to the Honourable Director Prof. Rama Shanker Verma for the keen interest he has shown in the development of this magazine and the constant support and motivation he provided all along. I am extremely thankful to our Chief Editor, Dr. Jyotsna Sinha for being a constant source of guidance and encouragement throughout the prOcess. A special mention is due to all the contributors with whose briliance this magazine dazzles. Last, but not the least, I would like to thank all members of the Editorial Board of SRIJAN 2023, for their fantastic work, without whose untiring efforts, this project wouldn't have been possible.A big Thank You to the Section Heads for their selflessness and determination in meeting the dead lines and maintaining great quality of work, the Design Team for their attention to detail and dedi cated and sincere efforts in giving the magazine its current shape and form.Lastly, gratitude to all the final year members of TEAM SRIJAN 2023 for their contribution, for whom this project Would serve as a beautiful memnoir in the years to come.
